The statement in my communication of the 17th of June, in which I mentioned the robbery of Blackley's store, that "no goods were taken," was not correct. Mr. Blackley thought best to keep dark about the goods, as they might lead to arrest. Besides money, the store was robbed of jewelry, edgings, gloves, &c.; some of which were given away after baving been stolen. and have been recovered. Nearly if not all the rest were found in a trunk owned by the man who has been arrested. In Caroline, and about the Junction, in Hanover. he was known as Wright; but west of Noell's, on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, he was known as Johnson, and as "the treating-man." In the trunk mentioned was a pistol and a watch-case and chain belonging to a gentleman in Caroline, and which were in a show-case in Blackley's store. The watch was taken out of the case before the store was robbed, or the watch would have gone with the case.

ROBBERIES AND CAPTURE OF THE ALLEGED THIEVES-A RICHMOND DETECTIVE WORKS UP THE CASE. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

HANOVER JUNCTION, VA., July 8, 1879. On Sunday, June 22d, the store of J. A. Baugban, who lives at Hewlett's station, in this county, was robbed of a lot of dry goods and money, and on June 15th the store of J. H. Blackley, at Penola station, in Caroline county, was robbed, the thieves also taking money and dry goods. Mr. William F. Knox, a well-known detective of Richmond, was at once employed by these gentlemen to work up the case. Mr. Knox came to the Junction, and after looking around and making inquiry, soon found that Mr. Baughan and Black ley were wrong in the party suspected, and turned his attention to a suspicious looking stranger who had been seen at these stores and in the neighborhood during the time the robbery was committed.
